

The 3D Printing/ Additive Manufacturing Value Chain

The 3D Printing / Additive Manufacturing Value Chain

The emphasis of the 3D Printing / Additive Manufacturing industry has been predominantly on the 3D Printer technology and not on the Value Chain. 3D Printers should be faster, have higher quality, Build larger sizes etc..

However, the design / engineering phase, the choice of materials and the postprocessing phase are equally or even more important. And if one wants to grow towards manufacturing, the integration of 3D Printing / Additive Manufacturing in the 'traditional' factory is essential as well.

Therefore the 3D Printing Event offers you in two days four conferences focused on each step of the value chain, plus one future looking conference:

The 3D Printing/ Additive Manufacturing Value Chain

Target groups

Any person who is involved in the value chain of creating / manufacturing a product using 3D Printing / Additive Manufacturing, from designer to engineer, from researcher to 3D printer manufacturer, from material manufacturer to software developer and from quality control to production. We invite you to visit the website to find out why you should attend the conferences / expo for one day or two days.

Communication

Extensive communication about the Expo and the 3D Printing Event will take place via various channels. Exposure for partners and exhibitors will be attained via direct e-mailing to an extremely top-quality and exclusive database.

We will communicate about the event in the following ways:

- Conference and Expo websites and news sections
- Twitter
- Facebook
- LinkedIn
- Several newsletters which we be sent out from January 2018 onwards.

Media

The communication strategy also includes online advertisements, button-advertisements, advertisements in printed magazines and notification of the event on the websites of the supporting media partners.

The event will be equally supported in the blogs, trade press, newsletters, websites and twitter of the international media partners.
